"College Farm" Newest Thing

Provides Board, Room For Several P. C. Students

What's this "Pacific College Farm" we're hearing so much about? We've seen a Dodge panel truck rattling around here since the opening of school. We've seen four boys with cans and buckets dashing into the kitchen at the dorm. We've seen bales of hay, sacks of feed, and all kinds of second hand furniture and household utensils, in this same jalopy, headed for the "hill." But most of all, we've heard talk.

It all started when our new prexy, Emmett Gulley, decided that Pacific College ought to do something about some of its run-down real estate holdings. Why not build up these farms, get them on a paying basis, and at the same time furnish for the dormitory and provide a chance for fellows to work their way through college.

The first project is the old John Hodson place about two and a half miles northeast of Newberg, in the Springbrook neighborhood. The property includes 38 acres, with a few acres in prunes and peaches, and some pasture, wood and crop land. There is a small patch of black-caps, while eighteen walnut trees line the base road and a few pear and filbert trees stand near the main house. Improvements on the place include this main house, the former home of John Hodson; a smaller house just back of it, which was the home of Harold Hodson and a third house near the base road, now being rented. An old barn and a garage are also included in improvements.

All summer, Professor Laurence Skene has been busy, with carpenters and other helpers, remodeling the main house—which is to be occupied by Professor

Soph Meetings Extra Special

The Sophomore class has held two meetings so far this year.

At the first meeting, held Tuesday, September 23rd, the class elected their new officers for the coming year. They are: Betty Lou Gardner, President; Wayne Roberts, Vice President-Social Chairman; Kathleen Smith, Secretary-Treasurer.

The second meeting was held Monday, October 6th, and the business concerned Freshman initiation (Announcement and Rules on page ?). The initiation committee consisted of Keith Williams, Chairman, Dorothy Baker, Margery Wohlgenuth, Dale Miller, and Wayne Roberts.

PASSING PARADE OF PARTIES

Pacific College really started its social activities in grand style during the opening week of school. Monday night, Sept. 15, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. "broke the ice" at the party in the old gym. Elenita Mardock led the group in several lively games that enabled us to find the answers to such questions as "Who is the gal over there by the door?" or "Humm, I wonder if he is from Idaho, too?" Then after the games we all helped ourselves to punch and cookies. By this time bashfulness was over and everyone started getting acquainted.

The next evening, Tuesday, Sept. 16, the student body gave a mixer. Quite a few more students, old and new, came that night. As soon as we entered the door of the big gym a paper sack was clamped over our right hands. Given a slip of paper and a pencil each person was to get as many left-handed signatures as possible. During this cumbersome process we became acquainted better than ever. During the evening, couples vied in a sort of sweater-off-inside-out-reverse-exchange and back-again race. Also, groups of four raced in an apple cannery race in which one person peeled, one quartered, one seeded, and one "canned." The time of the party seemed to be the only time that was available to the men who filled the south end of the gym with sawdust. "They'll do it everytime." Punch and cookies were served to supplement the sawdust diet.

Thursday, Sept. 18, the Big-Little Sister club entertained the girls in the basement of the Friends' church. After singing choruses to get warm, the Big sisters roasted (or burnt) weiners for the Little sisters. Apples and cookies completed the repast. It was an evening in which the girls really got acquainted.

While this happy little party was in progress, the fellows were

Mark of '33-'34 Erased As 58 Rooks Register

Pacific College has finally completed registration for the first of its second fifty-years, and due to the initiative of President Gulley and other members of the faculty, has broken one record for enrollment as well as threatening another, according to Prof. Mary Sutton, registrar.

The freshmen set an all time high, chalking up a mark of 58 which places them above the 1933-34 figure of 55, while the registration sheet shows the total enrollment of 129, reached when Mary Lou Hoskins registered last week, is only a few short of a new mark.

P. C. Broadcast Over K.O.A.C. Next Wed.

The first Pacific College radio broadcast from K.O.A.C. will be given next Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. President Emmett Gulley will be speaking on the college.

The Sophomore Girl's Trio composed of Betty Lou Gardner, Irene Lewis, Mary Francis Nordyke and Ruth Coppock, who will also appear as piano soloist.

McCaffrie Relates Mexican Experiences

The chapel speaker last Tuesday was Harvie McCaffrie, Soph, who told of his trip in Mexico this summer where he and other aided the American Friends Service Committee in reconstruction work.

The party made up of George Thomas, Richard Binford, and Harvie McCaffrie of Pacific College, and two others from Seattle made the trip in an auto loaned for the purpose.

Many interesting and amusing experiences were related by McCaffrie. They were mostly concerned with difficulties in understanding the Spanish language and learning the ways of the Mexican people.

After a brief but eventful stay in Mexico City, the group continued on to their destination which was several hundred miles from there.

Time failed to allow Mr. McCaffrie to tell of his interesting work where they spent six weeks in earthquake reconstruction.

Michener Enrolling At Antioch College

David Michener, former student of Pacific College, will leave this Thursday evening for Yellow Springs, Ohio, where he will enroll at Antioch College. Antioch College is a cooperative college where the students work to pay for their schooling.

Thank You

Everybody is happy about the fine increase in the Pacific College student body this year. This increase did not just happen. A lot of people worked hard to make it possible.

First of all there were the old students who went out and spread their enthusiasm for the school. They contacted their friends, acquaintances and relatives. They wrote letters. They visited conferences. They had personal interviews. Enthusiasm is contagious. To the student body of last year and to the students of other years who helped make this success possible, we thank you.

Members of the college board and faculty spent a lot of time and effort contacting prospective students and certainly they deserve part of the credit for our success. To them also we say thank you.

Still another group who deserve a lot of credit is the group of business men of Newberg. Their words of encouragement, their time and effort in advising students to enroll at Pacific College, their renewed interest in the activities of the college all helped to bring about this success. To you, business men of Newberg, we say thank you.

To the Christian pastors of Newberg and Oregon Yearly Meeting who so generously helped us we express our thanks.

During the past year we have reviewed the first fifty years. Now we look to the future. All of these groups who have cooperated to make this our largest student body can be continued and even greater cooperation assure a successful future for Pacific College.

We need more students. Our goal is for a student body of 200. We need a new library building and a new gymnasium. We need some more endowment to stabilize our income. We need the enthusiastic support of all our friends. The college in turn hopes to make a larger contribution to the community of Newberg and to wider circles. And so, business men of Newberg, students, faculty, board members, Christian leaders, all of you, we solicit your continued cooperation for the building of a greater Pacific College. For the part you will play in that achievement we say again, "Thank you."

Down With Reed

Football this year is going over bigger and better than ever has before if the fine way is had started out is any indication.

In the first place, the squad has some fine new equipment, thanks to the fine cooperation of the Newberg business men in giving so generously to the football equipment fund.

The fellows themselves have come across with a few dollars showing they are really interested in the great game of football.

Pacific students are backing up the football team to the limit and with that kind of backing and spirit the team is out to smother Reed, Friday, October 10.

Acknowledgment

The editor wishes to acknowledge the grand work of his "skeleton" staff in going ahead and dynamically getting this issue ready for the press when it was found impossible for him to give enough of his time to do the publication justice. That's the kind of staff that an editor, and a student body, can be proud of.

Students Have Weiner Roast On Gridiron

A student body weiner roast was held Friday evening, Sept. 26 on the football field. Approximately 50 students and several faculty members attended.

After the roasting of weiners and marshmallows, singing was a highlight followed by lively games led by James Armstrong.

The Student Body social committee chairman stated that there will be more of these affairs throughout the year.

Commercial Department Extends Greetings

Greetings from the Department of Commerce to all students of Pacific college! This new department has made a most auspicious beginning, with a great deal of interest being manifested in both the shorthand and typing classes. Seven students are enrolled in the shorthand class, six in beginning typing, and six in advanced typing.

The demand for typing so greatly exceeded expectations that it has been necessary to add two typewriters since the opening of the term. A victrola is an important part of the equipment in the typing room, and rhythm drill to music was begun this week in the typing classes.

College Farm

Alvin Allen and family, Mr. Allen being the operating manager of the farm. The little house behind it is the "batching quarters" for the four fellows who are working on the place—Wendell Deane from Tillamook, Arthur James from Los Angeles, Calif., David Beebe from Home-dale, Ida., and Lilburn Tucker from Greenleaf.

The carpenters, the painters, the Allens and the boys, and many cooperative and helpful persons are still cleaning up, rounding up furnishings, putting on the finishing touches, and moving in, in an effort to get settled as soon as possible—but the farm has already gone into business, and is furnishing most of the milk for the dorm, with a temporary milk herd of three cows and a calf. Work plans for the future include the pulling and clearing of several prune trees; the plowing and seeding of land into cover crops; the building of a better barn and a milkhouse; the planting of filberts and blackcaps; the establishment and maintenance of a garden and a flock of chickens to furnish vegetables and eggs; as well as many other things. The expenditures for the farm are determined by an "investment committee" of the college board, under the chairmanship of Frank Colcord. Mr. Colcord, President Gulley, and Veldon Diment, together with Mr. Allen, plan the general policies for the farm, which are put into operation by Mr. Allen with the help of the boys.

The boys, Mr. Allen, and others interested, are planning to hold frequent discussion on agriculture with the applications to the farm project, and are expecting the cooperation of the county agent, the extension service, the soil conservation service, and the instructor of agriculture at the local high school, Neal Craig.

When the place is ready for visitors, there will be some grand places for student parties, weiner roasts, and open-air services, and according to Mr. and Mrs. Allen, "all of you folks down on the campus are welcome to come up to the farm."

Student Body Activities

The student body meetings have started off with a bang, with amendments and petitions of various sorts being much in discussion.

The student body passed a bill which will assist the advertising manager of the Crescent. He will receive 10 per cent of the amount taken in above $20.00 and half of the amount collected after all the expenses of the Crescent have been paid, according to the new rule.

At this same meeting, Betty Lou Gardner and Catherine Coffin were unanimously elected yell and song leaders. They introduced several new yells, and were received enthusiastically by the students.

After two tries the Senior class finally had their petition to sell candy accepted. The Junior class' petition to sell candy during noons was also accepted.

David Michener, L'Ami editor, handed in his resignation, so now the problem is to find someone else capable and willing to handle the job.

There has been a lack of song books, so the student body is planning to take action on this problem.

The students may soon find themselves with a student directory, which will include the name, address and telephone number of every student. Betty Peterson suggested this constructive idea.

After Sunday Hike Students Have Aches

Were you wondering why certain people around school were limping about and groaning about their aches and pains? Just ask them how they spent Sunday afternoon and you will have the answer. On second thought, however, it might be well if we were to give an unprejudiced account here.

Sunday, a week ago, ten ambitious people from P. C. hiked to the top of Chehalem Mountain and back, making a total of nearly eleven miles. Now if these people had been in the army instead of mere college students they would have thought nothing of it. But sad to say, they weren't and hence the sore feet and lame muscles. But it was "quite enjoyable" as Hirtzel would say. Maybe more can go next time.

Opera Attended By Several Students

Yes, it is a broader education they are seeking. Mary Frances Nordyke, Betty Lou Gardner, Doris and Marcia Jones, Catherine Coffin, and Claude Lewis attended in Portland, Friday, October 3, the opera "Tannhauser." It is hoped that more students will plan to attend next year.

Women's Auxiliary Meets Saturday

The Woman's Auxiliary of Pacific college held their regular monthly meeting at Canyon hall Saturday afternoon with 18 members present. Annual reports of all committees and of the work of the past year were given and proved most encouraging to the group.

Election of officers of the Auxiliary will be held at the next meeting which will be the fourth Saturday in October. Officers now heading the auxiliary are Mrs. L. T. Pennington, president; Mrs. Perry Macy, vice president; Mrs. H. M. Hoskins, secretary and Miss Elizabeth Sutton, treasurer.

Passing Parade

really "whooping it up" at the Stag mix. The Y. M. had charge. As a game to get acquainted we played "drop the belt." It was a touching game. Then Clyde Hadlock started us playing "hot-hand." It is another game for making warm friends, and I think the fellows all become very warm. After several rounds of this, the order of the game switched to "double hothand." Everyone enjoyed this immensely—that is, nearly everyone. After this the fellows joined in a "survival of the fittest tussle" with the last man in the circle as the winner. Cold juicy watermelons cooled us down to nearly normal again.

The social highlight of the week was the formal reception for students and faculty Friday, Sept. 19. The program, under the direction of Betty Lou Gardner, consisted of music, speeches, and games. The music consisted of a trombone solo by Earl Craven, a vocal solo by Wayne Roberts, violin solo by Robert Hirtzel, piano duet by Kathleen Smith and Florence Swanson, and a number by the string trio consisting of Robert Hirtzel, Pauline Nelson and Hazel Mary Houser. Speeches were given by Elenita Mardock, president of the Y. W. C. A.; Keith Williams, president of the Y. M. C. A., and followed by a talk by President Emmett W. Gulley. Betty Lou Gardner, assisted by Catherine Coffin and Ed Harmon, led the group in a few informal games, after which punch, wafers and candy were served.

The activities on the opening week of school enabled everyone to become better acquainted, and thus they gave the college an impetus of friendship and cooperation for the school year.

Freshmen Election Purpose of Meeting

On Friday, Sept. 26, the freshmen class election was held. Leo Crisman of Camas, Wash., was elected to head the frosh for the year. Other officers elected at the time were James Armstrong, Salem, vice president; Elaine Perisho, Boise, Ida., secretary-treasurer; and Buryl Kirkpatrick, Boise, Ida., social chairman. Doris Martin of Newberg was selected as assistant social chairman. The student council representative has not been officially announced at this time.

Daniels Instruction Attracting Students

The voice instruction of gentle, rotund Mark Daniels is attracting several students and is one of the most noticeable steps forward in advancing the standard and quality of the college music department. Mr. Daniels is not limiting his instruction to the college, but has found time to bring his teaching into the homes of several Newberg townspeople.

She paled as I approached her
Trembled as I drew near
But when my arms encircled her
She knew she'd naught to fear
Her breath came short
Her soul did sing
As if contentment I could bring
Why, oh why did she like to roam
I picked up my cat and carried her home.

Here is our bit of philosophy for the day; "What makes the happy ending of some columns is the mere fact that they have ended."

"Harry," asked the Sunday school teacher, "what must we do before our sins can be forgiven?"
"That's easy," said Herry, "We must sin."

Football Prospects Look Encouraging

Football prospects look brighter this year than they did last year, with the addition of some husky fellows from Idaho, three fellows from Washington and more than the usual crop from Oregon.

Many of the fellows lack experience but they are hard fighting, scrappy fellows, with a will to play ball.

Several lettermen are back in this year's lineup including: Hadlock, Hays, Daywalt, Lewis, Stein, Spirup and Cunningham.

Work has been interfering with several fellows practicing, however, Coach Kendell has succeeded in ironing out most of the rough spots.

Junior Class Holds Meeting at Gulley's

The junior Class held their first meeting under their new president Mary Lou Hoskins.

A party was held at President Gulley's home, with Alice Gulley, and Elinita Mardock in charge. After the party a caravan of cars stole through the night to Newberg and the P. C. campus where a series of mysterious events occurred.

Seniors Have Class Dinner at Harmon's

The Senior class met at Edward Harmon's home Monday, September 29th, for their first class dinner. At this meeting officers for the year were elected. They are: Dean Tate, President; Mary Esther Pemberton, vice president; Fern Nixon, Secretary-Treasurer. Mrs. Harmon was again elected class advisor. After an evening of fun and listening to the fight, the class disbanded to study Philosophy.

"What's the matter, little boy?"

"Ma's gone and drowned all the kittens."

First Scrimmage Shows Weakness Of Quaker Squad

Coach Orla Kendell ran the Quakers through an inter-squad practice on the high school field Friday, and came form the scrimmage realizing that the team needs a great deal of drilling on plays and blocking before the important tangle the Reed Friday.

For the first time this season two full teams were out for practice and Kendell took full advantage of seeing his replica of the "T" formation in offensive action. Offense was stressed, but neither team gained very much ground and the back-field on both sides looked ragged and out of time. Few fellows knew their signals and the passing and down-field blocking was rather sloppy. With only a week before the Reed game a good share of the time will be spent in ironing out plays and conditioning several new-comers to the squad.

Physical Education to Be On Credit Basis

From now on physical education grades will be given and credits given toward graduation at the rate of one credit per semester and four credits must be earned in this field in order to graduate.

Professor Alvin Allen is at the head of this department with Golden Noble directing the program assisted by Professor Lewis handling volley ball and archery with Ora Kendall in charge of tumbling, badminton and tennis, which will also be given under this new setup.

This course was set up primarily for those who do not take part in football or any other major sport.

Enrollment Increase Necessitates Change In Girl's Physical Ed.

The increased enrollment in the student body has made necessary certain changes in the organization of the Girls' Physical Education work. One class has been scheduled for varied work to include games, hiking, and gym work, while two classes have been organized for work in sports. Thirty-four girls have turned out for work on the volleyball squad, and interest is being shown in ping pong, badminton, and archery.

Physical Education has been given a new place in the college curriculum and one hour of college credit is being given each semester. Every girl in the Freshman and Sophomore classes are expected to participate, and it is hoped that a well-rounded activity program in health and physical education can be worked out to the advantage of each student.

M. A. A. Delays Vote On Constitution

The purpose of the first M. A. A. meeting on Sept. 22 was for the purpose of accepting or rejecting the revised constitution. The constitution was posted on the bulletin board to allow all members to become familiar with it before taking a vote.

The new federal tax makes it necessary for the M. A. A. to have an official taxpayer for the club. A committee was appointed to nominate candidates for the election which will be held at the next meeting.
